Our Greatest Need

In last week's Sea Coast Echo we reported that the Ways-In last week's See Coast Echo we reported that the Waye-land Board of Aldermen, at the suggestion of Mayor Carfield Ladner, unanimously resolved to set aside every August 17th es a day of prayer and thanksgiving, lest we forget the struggles we faced in our return from disaster after the great destruction of Hurricans Camille on August 17th, 1969. It was also recommended that all cities along the coast lesse similar proclamations and that while prayer services should be held in every city, a special program should be held in only one city and all others offer their fullest cooperation.

The Waveland story also says an effort will be made to have a prominent out-of-town guest as the principal speaker this year. Indeed, this would be nice, but even if Waveland is not successful in this, we believe all of us should support the Waveland proposal.

It was in a spirif of union and cooperation that our own national Thanksgiving Day was started. Our pilgrims gathered together, praised God for his help in giving them the courage to face great odds, and then furnishing them the means to carry on. It was this spirit of cooperation and willingness to help one snother that made a great America

AN EYESORE ON a main thoroughtere in Bay St. Louis since before Camille, this build-ing at the corner of St. Francis and Main Sts. is budly in need of repair and painting. The building's appearance downgrades other properties in the neighborhood and has been the subject of much complaint by citizens. How about a coat of paint for a starter? WASHINGTON - A note tame over to the National Aeronauties and Space Administration from the White House saking the apace ages. cy to do what is can to belo in the big U.S. air about planued for 1972 at the Dulles International Airport in nearby Virginia.

This show, as we understand it, is going to be America's version of the famous annual Paris Air Show, except that the Secretary of Transportation wants to show a lot more than just air transportation. He also has in mind some land and water transportation.

Well, this all comes as an interesting proposal to NASA because, it develops, the space agency can display a little bif of everything and go a lot further than most agencies.

For ground transportation the space agency can show what it is doing with the ordinary automobile in developing new diagonal braking systems, an outgrowth of work NASA has done in solving skid problems for airplanes.

If the air show directors want to make a really big impression, they can groove the main promenades at Dulles in much the same manner as NASA has grooved experimental airport runways. This, too, was a NASA developed method to prevent airnlanes from skidding on wet runways. This technique
